JOHN WILCOX, 90-year-old pioneer cattleman of the Porterville area, is shown at the Porterville city hall changing his voter registration from Democrat to Republican. John, who was born along the Tule river in the area now covered by Lake Success, says that when he first registered as a young man he didn't know what party he wanted to affiliate with, "so they just put me down as a Democrat." Witnessing John's signature is Mrs. June Borum, deputy registrar in the city hall. (Farm Tribune photo)

Greetings Extended From New Zealand City

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 13 — Greetings from the Borough of Kawerau, New Zealand, have been received by Porterville Mayor Jack Letsinger from Clive B. Boyce, mayor of Kawerau, with the message delivered by Miss Beth Potter, exchange student at Porterville high school.

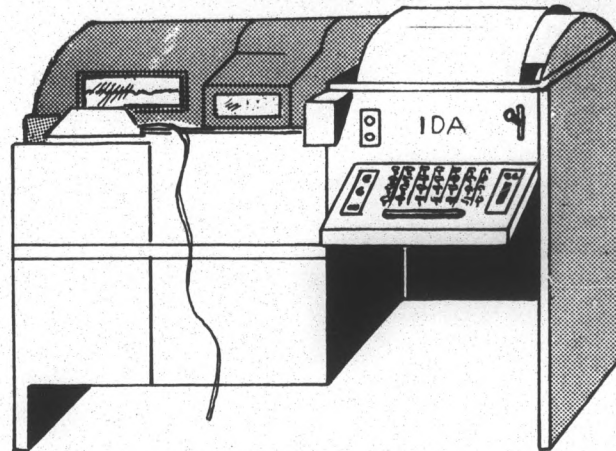

Addressed to: "His Worship the Mayor, City of Porterville, U.S.A." the letter says:

"This will serve to introduce to you Miss Beth Potter, a young citizen of our town, who is visiting the United States under a Field Scholarship.

"Miss Potter desires to take an interest in all facets of life in your city and I commend her to you, and would appreciate any assistance you may be able to give her.

"I would also like to take this opportunity, on behalf of the citizens of Kawerau, of extending sincere greetings to the people of your fair city."

IDA, THE NEW AUCTIONEER

Electronic Chatterbox To Carry Word Of The Livestock Auction Into The Front Office Of Buyers

By Bill Reece

VISALIA, Sept. 13 — You can add another name to the ever growing list of vanishing Americans. This time it's the livestock auctioneer whose sing-song chant and rapid-fire delivery has been heard by generations of Americans for lo, these many years, but who now appears to be headed for the museum of memories along with the Town crier and cigar store Indian.

In his place will be an electronic chatterbox with a jargon as garbled as his own, but with the ability to cry its message into the buyer's own office, away from the din and clatter of the sawdust sales ring.

These mechanical auctioneers went on display last Thursday at the Visalia offices of the California Farm Bureau Marketing association, the organization for whom the man-made substitute was built by the Pacific Telephone company, and that now plans to install them early in 1963 throughout their state-wide system of marketing yards.

Both in appearance and operation the machines resemble the more familiar "Teletypes". In fact, only their language is different, which is in the vernacular of the trade. For example, a message reading: Lot 1 250HD WF STRS GD & CH WT 950 simply will mean that a cattleman is offering to sell 250 head of white face steers with a grade of good to choice, weighing 950 pounds average.

Already affectionately dubbed "Ida"—short for Integrated Data Auctions — the machines will be placed in buyers' offices, packing plants, and feed lots from Red Bluff to the Mexican Border. To best understand how they will work, let's take a typical offering.

Let's say you have 100 steers ready for market. The first thing you will do is to contact your local CFBMA office, giving all the pertinent data such as: number of head, type, weight, etc. The information is then recorded on tape and on a regularly scheduled (Continued On Page 10)

BETH POTTER, second from left, exchange student this year at Porterville high school from New Zealand, is shown presenting official greetings to Porterville Mayor Jack Letsinger from Clive B. Boyd, mayor of the Borough of Kawerau. Miss Potter, a senior, will live in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Rouch; she is under the American Field Service Exchange program, the local chapter of which is headed by Ted Ensslin, fourth from left. Mrs.

Rouch is on the left, Jeri Rouch on the right. Miss Potter is the fourth student to come to Porterville high school under the exchange program; during the summer Caroline Cox, Porterville high school senior, was in Belgium, under the Americans Abroad division of the program. Miss Potter, who will be available for talks before local organizations, also brought greetings for the Porterville Lions and Porterville Rotary clubs. (Farm Tribune photo)

SOME OF the more than 2,000 persons who were served last Thursday evening at Fifth Annual Western barbecue given by the Poplar chamber of commerce at the Tule River Youth Center in Poplar. Profits from the event will be used to further im-

COMMUNITY TO CELEBRATE AGAIN IN ANNUAL PORTER PUTNAM DAY

Get out those Centennial clothes, or your western duds.

Second annual Porter Putnam day has been definitely set — for Saturday, October 20 — and there will be a hot time in the old town once again as horses and buggies parade Main street, and former Bushfaces, Dolls and Confederates recapture the past as the past never was.

It's all in fun, and all part of a promotion that will open the evening of October 17 with a showing of new cars, and continue through the next three days with special sales events in Porterville stores.

It is rumored that meetings have already been held in the Mountain Lion saloon, and no doubt it will be necessary to do considerable future planning there. And it is further rumored that them Dolls is plottin' agin' them former Bushfaces — now Smoothfaces.

There will be a serious side to the program on October 20 when tribute is paid to Porterville's founder, Royal Porter Putnam. And along the street will be such characters as Doc Small, Col. Natzke, the Confederate troops with cannon, Diamond Lil, maybe the Dixieland boys who are still around, Ugly Ed Jones and his Speedwell, Father Donald Jones (who still has a moustache) and who knows how many others.

So we urge all stalwart citizens of the entire community to start pointing right now to a fine, happy time on Porter Putnam day.

The date again — October 20!

ACTION OPENS ON SCHOOL FRONT; HAPPY LAUGHTER AMONG PARENTS

SUMMER IS OFFICIALLY over. This may not correspond to the calendar, almanac or weather, but as any red-blooded American boy or girl knows, summer is over when school begins. Gone are the chaos and pathos of summer baseball. Gone are those refreshing chlorinated dips in the swimming pools. Gone are the picnics and gone are the frantic boating speers on Success lake. In fact, the lake is almost gone, too. INSTEAD, SEVERAL THOUSAND youngsters hereabouts trudged off to school this week to match wits with their teachers. This was S-Day and the lines of battle were quickly drawn between those trying to instill knowledge, who are known as teachers, and those that resist learning with amazing tenacity, who are sometimes referred to as students.

REPORTS FROM THE opening day skirmishes were many and varied. Your correspondent picked up rumors of both guerilla and gorilla tactics on the local fronts. Most action as the battle was joined consisted of sniping, although a few bombs were thrown in the nature of heavy homework assignments on some fronts.

OPENING DAY IS ALWAYS a chore for the teacher. First, he is confronted by some 30-odd specimens off the home range. These he must bludgeon, persuade or sweet talk into a spirit of co-operation and action. Some use the shock treatment by snappy discipline. Others use the more oblique approach of appealing to the better natures of their students. To anyone who knows youngsters, this can be very oblique indeed.

EVERY PUPIL COMES away from the first day of school knowing that he is going to be put upon and worked like a Roman galley slave. The nights will be long, the homework heavy and the struggle all but unavailing. To hear the outcries, one can almost visualize hundreds of pupils keeling over from the terrific strain and effort. This kind of chit chat usually falls on deaf parental ears, because to date, there has been virtually no fatalities from overworked pupils.

SUMMER IS OVER. School has

VARIED HISTORY FEATURED IN NEW LIBRARY BOOKS

The daughter of Earl Rogers, famous California trial lawyer, has written the story of his life, as she had promised him she would do. In FINAL VERDICT, Adela Rogers St. John brings to life the exciting days when to be defended by Earl Rogers meant almost certain freedom, even for someone suspected of being guilty. Rogers felt that ALL men had a right to a fair trial; it was not until the end of his life that he knew Clarence Darrow, whom he had successfully defended from charges of jury tampering, in the Los Angeles Times bombing trial, was guilty. Rogers perfected the art of cross-examination, pioneered in the use of expert witnesses, helped to improve the rules of evidence, and reached for a better understanding of insanity and its relation to crime. Exciting as a true crime story, this is a fascinating human document.

A DEBONAIR SCOUNDREL, by Lately Thomas, is aptly subtitled "An Episode in the Moral History of San Francisco." Abraham Ruef was the big man in that city before, during and after the 1906 earthquake. Everyone who lived there through that period has vivid memories of the man, of his handsome puppet, Mayor Eugene Schmitz, and of the active, virulent, and eventually successful newspaper battle to put Ruef behind bars. This account brings it vividly to life, with all the elements of a brisk thriller, yet with basic historical accuracy.

In DUST IN THE LION'S PAW, Miss Freya Stark takes a backward look at the Arab world she knows so well. Intelligent, literate, equable and friendly with all sorts of people, she did excellent work as a propagandist, or "persuader" as she preferred to think of herself, for the British government, in the Middle East during the last war. In Yemen she countered fascist sympathies by showing, in the principal harems, films of British military might, thus reaching the most important persons through their women. The book is rich with her own diaries and letters, and the letters of her many notable friends. Her tales of life in Baghdad and Cairo during the war restore our faith in human nature, and in the possibility that ordinary people can accomplish the impossible when circumstances permit.

started. Teachers are gnashing teeth. Pupils are groaning. But above this din can be heard the happy laughter of parents, who have once again been released from another summer of child care.

According to Buddhist belief, life is a burden rather than a blessing. When a man dies, he is born again, according to his merit or demerit, he may be a dog or a divinity! His demerit may be punished by his becoming a woman or a monkey! If he has really misbehaved, he could be punished in some one of the 136 Buddhist hells, in the hot interior of the earth, where the least term of suffering is ten million years!

Strangely, the idea of a Supreme Being creating and ruling the universe was utterly unknown to the Buddha.

The key to the Buddha's plan of salvation is found in what he called his "Four Sublime Truths". The first truth emphasizes that everyone must suffer pain; the second, that pain results from unfulfilled desire; the third, that pain can be ended by suppressing desire; the fourth shows the way the human soul may gain freedom from desire.

The Christian religion also acknowledges that pain is ubiquitous throughout the world. Suffering and death entered the world because of sin, explains the Bible.

The Bible tells us we may defeat sin and death, and live forever in God's glorious heaven. How? The Bible explains, "The wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord" (Romans 6:23).

Who is Jesus Christ? How can we know him? What is faith? How can we obtain faith to believe the promises of God? These are important questions, and many people are seeking the answers today.

To find the answers, we can do better than go into a trance under a tree, like the Buddha. We can open our Bibles, and read, "Thus saith the Lord . . ."

Pirates Will Field Biggest And Fastest Team In Years As Season Opens Saturday Against COS

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 13—The Porterville College Pirates will field their biggest and fastest football team in several years Saturday night when they host their traditional rivals, the 10th ranked nationally College of Sequoia Giants, at 8 o'clock at Jamison stadium.

Coach Pat Mills has announced tentative starting line-ups which include a 198-pound average offensive unit and a defensive line-up that coincidentally averages the same weight. Both teams contain both experienced and first year men.

Saturday night's game will mark the first time in the history of the two schools that they have not competed in the same athletic conference. The Giants, under new head coach Ed Baldock, has moved to the newly formed Central Valley conference. Porterville will continue to compete in the Central California conference along with Taft, Coalinga, Reedley, and Allen Hancock colleges.

Baldock is not new to local fans, as he coached Hancock to a conference championship last season. His teams in the past have featured both speed and power from a wing-T formation, and the reports are that he has the talent to make the system work in his first year at COS.

Mills, blessed with the best turn-out in several years at Porterville, has set up two offensive units and one defensive unit for trial this season.

The "black" unit averages 208 pounds in the line, and 181 pounds in the backfield, with 198-pound team average. The "red" unit, with a team average of 175 pounds, hits 185 in the line and 157 in the backfield.

Quarterback for the "black" unit is 140-pound Othel Pearson, a veteran from Wasco who is both a passing and running threat in addition to being a skillful ball handler. This will mark his sixth season as a player for Mills.

Keith Westbay, a 140-pound veteran from Corcoran, and Joe Carillo, a pint-sized varsity quarterback from Porterville High, will divide signal calling duties on the red offensive unit. At halfbacks will be Leo Coleman, 155, and Paul Floyd, 155, both veterans from Wasco; and at fullback will be Vic Young, 185, of Porterville.

The "red" line will have Jack Gill, 170, and Bob Christl, 175, both of Porterville, at ends; Don Shannon, 205, Placerville, and Clark Londquist, 215, Porterville,

Gins Association held this month in San Francisco, where co-op gin officials pledged to step up their campaign for better training of gin personnel.

Fall is a time of many things for the outdoor minded. It is time for shooting doves, hunting deer, raking leaves, or for cooking out while the evenings are pleasant. In general it's a second spring complete with spring fever and broken shovel handles.

Fall finds many gardens in need of a good "house cleaning" with passe flowers, seasonable weeds, and the remains of summer activities. Most of these things should be removed, some may be tossed back on the neighbors, others can be buried for compost.

It's not yet time to put the garden hose and sprinklers away but any that are ailing should be eased out. Some of the plastic sprinklers make good gadgets for tying up large shrubs. In fact they may be better tree ties than they were sprinklers. Small sprinklers, children, and pets should be kept where they won't be lost under the deluge of winter leaves.

On "E" Street you can find the necessary things to winterize your garden. This includes stakes, ties, plants, bulbs, shrubs and information. Open from eight to five thirty every day but Sunday.

at tackles; Gordon Todd, 180, Porterville, and Hector Hernandez, 160, Delano, at guards; and Phil Velie, 190, Porterville, at center.

Up front in the defensive unit, Mills said, will be Floyd and 155-pound Richard Dulay of Porterville at ends, Fusco and Gartung at tackles, Fred Wren, 218, of Strathmore, and Bill Miller, 210, of Porterville, at guards. Joe Bianco, 185, and Rocco Marrongelli, 190, both of Binghamton, will be at linebackers; Dotson and Wells will play defensive halfbacks, and Coleman will be at safety.

Richard Osborn, speed-burning halfback, will play with both offensive units, Mills said.

BUY LOW — SELL HIGH

A prime rule in making money, whether it be in automobiles, real estate, potatoes or investment securities is . . . Buy Low — Sell High!

Yet this rule seems to have been completely reversed by millions of men and women who were caught in the mass hysteria which swept the market this spring.

Not one of them who sold, regardless of the price received for their stock, apparently gave a thought to the fact that every recession in this country has been followed by economic improvement which has raised the price of business securities to new highs. The record is there for all who care to study it, but few did.

Another fact. Nearly every market recession has been preceded or accompanied by "tight" money . . . interest rates up, employment down, little money available. Today, a record supply of money is available. Personal income, bank deposits, and savings of all kinds are at all time highs. Money we have, and employment is at or near record high.

Values represented by common stocks have not changed. General Motors is selling more cars. General Foods is selling as many groceries. Texaco is selling as much gas. IBM is selling as many computers, and more, than they did a year ago. The ratio of price to earnings and price to dividends have not been this good for quite a few years.

Multiply this situation by hundreds or even thousands of securities and today's investor is offered rare bargains in growth as well as income stocks.

Mutual Fund managers are finding in this recession a wonderful buying opportunity. Fund managers investigate securities they may want to put into their portfolios long in advance, and watch their progress daily. They are buying more of the stocks which they own, thus averaging down their costs, and often are buying new securities at prices lower than they ever hoped to pay.

If these professional investment managers, are buyers in this market, Shouldn't we?

We Only Heard

BY BILL RODGERS

MERCHANTS PLAN annual Christmas parade on November 24, just two days after Thanksgiving! Wonder if anyone has thought of having the parade two days after the Fourth of July. After all, there's nothing like getting the spirit of Christmas on the move, and starting those bells ringing — cash register bells, that is.

THERE ARE still honest people in this old world. Allan Coates, Porterville chamber manager, has received a letter, with 25 cents enclosed, from Mrs. Bowman, of Bell, California, who says she made a purchase at the concession stand of the Municipal swimming pool last summer while on a vacation trip in this area . . . She later discovered that she had been given 25 cents too much change, so will someone please return the money to whoever it belongs to. Allan has notified Eric Grant that he can pick up his money at the chamber office.

MAKING HEADLINES, recently, in San Francisco, was Fred J. Ochs, who grew up in Porterville and whose father for several years owned and managed the old Stevens store. Fred now works for the Internal Revenue service, and, along with another man in the office, devised a new system for an automatic computers typing machine that will save the revenue service $677,500 the first year it is put into use . . . Fred is sharing a check from the IRS amounting to $3,895 . . . But Fred and his friend will have to pay income tax on the "suggestion box" award money.

ALSO IN the big time news, in fact in Fulton Lewis Jr.'s nationally syndicated column, is our good congressman Harlan Hagen. Fulton Lewis, Jr., comments, and not favorably, that Harlan received a check for $218.76 from Billie Sol Estes for reading into the congressional record a speech by Dr. James T. Ralph "an Estes pal and former assistant secretary of agriculture who was dismissed earlier this year," so that copies of the speech could be mailed out under Hagen's franking privileges. (Mailed at taxpayer expense, that is.) Fulton Lewis, Jr. further says another check was sent by Estes to the Democrat National committee earmarked for Hagen's campaign fund, and points out that Hagen said nothing about his dealings with Billie Sol until "a dispatch from Austin reported that files for Estes Enterprises, seized by Attorney General Will Wilson, show Hagen to have received Estes largesse." . . . Harlan is reported as saying that he "reluctantly introduced" the speech into the Congressional Record at the request of William Morris, an Agricultural Department official, who has been fired for his refusal to testify about his relationship with Estes . . . Fulton Lewis, Jr. then quotes Ray Arnett, who is running against Hagen, as saying that the Estes gift is "by no means the major issue. The issue is, instead, the 10-year record of a congressman by Press Release, who has yet to account for a single piece of important legislation, who does not recognize the dangers of big government and the threat posed to us by international communism." . . . That's Fulton Lewis, Jr. reporting.

THE MAIN POLITICAL ISSUE SOCIALISM: A CREEPING PARALYSIS

We were once our brother's keeper . . . Now the trend is to let my brother keep me . . . Why should I work . . . The world owes me a living.

We once looked for opportunity and expected life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness . . . This was all we asked . . . But now we ask for security . . . job security and social security even if it must be by the government. . . . and we expect our happiness to be given to us . . . why chase after it when it will come to us.

We were taught to build for our own future . . . This was honorable . . . Now the trend is, get your share while you can, it may not be there tomorrow. (And it probably won't at the rate it is going now.) May God help our children, they will surely need all the help they can get. We certainly aren't leaving them anything but indebtedness. Are we proud of this fact? Think of this when you look at your children. How will we explain to them what happened in years to come.

Governor Brown, campaigning on T.V., promised California he would get them their share of benefits from the Federal Government.

When will we realize that government has no money of its own. We are the government. We are the ones that pay. (Our children will pay what we leave unpaid.)

The attitude of too many Americans toward creeping socialism is rather like that of the alcoholic who was told by his doctor that for him alcohol was slow poison. The drunk shrugged and replied, "So who's in a hurry?" This is an attitude our nation cannot afford. Having a touch of socialism is like having a touch of cancer. The only hope is early treatment.

To combat mosquitoes you don't chase after them with a fly swatter. You go to the breeding place and destroy it. Socialism is the breeding place of Communism and Communism is a much greater threat to our nation than some would have us believe.

Our people don't realize where they are going. They have veered to the left gradually and are scarcely aware of it. We have drifted from the course of freedom. We need to be alarmed.

Our government was set up as a Republic, a form of state based on the principle that sovereignty resides in the people who delegate the power to rule in their behalf to elected representatives and officials.

Our government was founded on the concept that the best government is that which governs least. It was regarded chiefly as an agency for providing police and fire protection and an army for repelling any foreign invader.

A French writer commented that France was destroyed when everyone began to look upon the government as a cow to be milked . . . rather than a watch dog to be fed.

Socialism is like a chameleon, always managing to assume the protective coloration of some noble motive on behalf of social justice.

The John Birch Society is a Patriotic God Fearing group that is alarmed at the Socialistic, Communistic trend into which our country is sinking. We are alarmed at our diminishing freedoms. Yes, we are called alarmists and that is true. The alarm must be sounded. In the most dangerous time of our country's history will you help to sound the alarm? If we don't who will?

If you would like to stop the Socialistic and Communistic trend in our government . . . If you would like to leave a better government for your children, write your representatives. Your opinion is important. Let your Congressman know how you feel about things.

51% of us have never written to any one of the men who represent us in Washington.

55% of us have never suggested to anyone else that he get in touch with his Congressman.

69% of us have never spoken with any Washington representative about legislation.

By contrast, the Communist Party brags that it can put 50,000 letters in Washington in forty-eight hours on any issue it chooses.

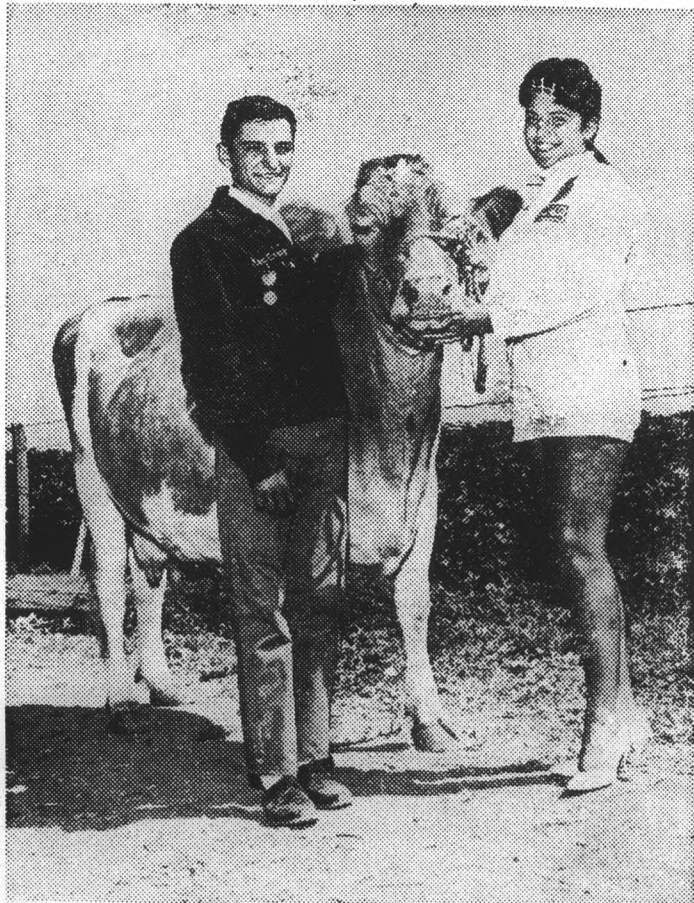

This is a challenge. Are we going to be less diligent than the Communists?

TULARE COUNTY LEADS IN OLIVE PRODUCTION

VISALIA, Sept. 13 — Tulare county is the state — and nation's — leading olive producing county, with 9,013 acres in production, and with another 2,165 acres coming on. This amounts to 30 per cent of the entire California olive acreage.

RAY ORISIO, Tulare F.F.A. chapter president, introduces Lorraine Dutto, Tulare F.F.A. Sweetheart, to one of his highly

"Patriotic Memories" Is Theme Of 44th Annual Veterans' Day

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 13—"Patriotic Memories" will be the theme for Veterans' Day and the huge parade on November 12th in Porterville.

The general committee for the 44th annual Veterans' Day and Porterville homecoming, meeting Tuesday night in the V.F.W. hall, selected this entry from a large number submitted from local citizens and organizations.

"Patriotic Memories" was submitted by the Porterville Women's club, and the committee based its choice on the wide range of subjects, and other potentials possible under this heading, for float builders and other exhibitors.

It was announced by General Chairman Lienweber that Don Jones, of local Horseless Carriage club renown, would have the tri-county president of the Carriage clubs on hand at the next meeting, Tuesday, September 11th at American Legion hall to outline a tentative entertainment program for the afternoon of Monday, November 12th, the official celebration day. This entertainment will utilize the Horseless carriages.

Also invited will be a representative from the Native Daughters of the Golden West to discuss plans for the annual Pioneers' tea and reception.

Organizations planning on operating concessions on Veterans' day are requested to contact Jean Griner, at 417 E. Harrison street or phone SU 4-2489.

EARL WARREN JR., son of Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren, Sacramento Attorney, and a recent change-over from Republican to Democrat registration, will be the principal speaker at a barbecue in Murry park, Sunday, slated as a fund-raising event for Jim Stein, Democrat candidate for state senate in Tulare county; Stein will introduce Warren. Rally and barbecue is set for 1:30 p.m.; speaking at 2:30 p.m.; tickets are $5.00. Joe Bonnar, of Lindsay, is chairman of the rally and barbecue; Master of ceremonies will be John Hyland, of Visalia; Porterville Mayor Jack Letsinger will greet guests and act as a host during the afternoon.

date, along with all other offerings, will be transmitted to the receiving sets in the above mentioned places.

Along side the description of your livestock will be a suggested starting price, which is automatically lowered each time it reappears until some buyer on the network sees the figure he's willing to pay. Then, by pressing a "buy-button", the purchaser automatically records the purchase, and you've sold your cattle.

As you may have already detected, the method of bidding is reverse to the more customary one of starting low and working up. The reason of course is mechanical but, it could turn out to be a psychological advantage as well.

However, known advantages of the new system for livestock men is access to more buyers, cutting of his transportation costs, because cattle will be sold FOB the ranch, and a saving of time.

The new system will not eliminate the weekly auctions held at Visalia which basically are used to sell cows, calves and small lots. However, the seller will have the advantage of the wider new market.

A series of meetings are being planned for the Tulare county area at which time representatives of the Farm Bureau will answer questions regarding the new system. If possible, one of the machines will also be displayed. Those interested in attending may contact Cyrille Faure, SU 4-1243.
